WE NOMINATE

William Shepherd Dix, one of this country's most respected library statesmen and in his seventh year as Librarian of Princeton University, who has helped the United States attain a position of world leadership in library affairs—a sphere in which Americans can make major contributions to the cultural and technological development of the underdeveloped and uncommitted areas. As an articulate officer of the American Library Association, and as a member of the U. S. National Commission for UNESCO, the 49-year old Dix has enabled others to see that the unregimented library is all-important when it comes to promoting the free flow of ideas not only within but also among nations.

A consultant to library enterprises in the Near East and a delegate last fall to the Tenth Session of the General Conference of UNESCO in Paris, Dix belongs to the little-publicized group of educators who have been working effectively with intellectual leaders in many countries in adapting the philosophy and techniques of American librarianship to national needs. He and his associates, whether undertaking missions overseas or bringing librarians to these shores for observation and study, have been concerned with strengthening democratic concepts of far-reaching library programs, including service to scientists and scholars as well as work with children.

Dix, a driving force in the creation of the John Foster Dulles Library as a supporting unit in Princeton University's library complex, never looks upon a library as an end in itself, or as an institution set apart from the demands and pressures of the world around it. A library, to his way of thinking, is an integral part of a way of life, or way of education, reflecting and also implementing the aspirations of those it serves. A librarian, contrary to lay opinion, collects not for the sake of collecting, but constantly seeks to assemble materials that will broaden man's understanding.

As chairman of the American Library Association's Committee on Intellectual Freedom, Dix has performed yeoman's service, including sponsorship of one of the meaningful documents of the 1950's, "The Freedom to Read", issued in 1953, a month before President Eisenhower gave his memorable "book-burning address" at Dartmouth, by the American Library Association and the American Book Publishers' Council. This statement of principles emphasized: "Freedom has given the United States the elasticity to endure strain. . . . Every silencing of a heresy, every enforcement of an orthodoxy, diminishes the toughness and resilience of our society and leaves it less able to deal with stress."

Dix, a native of Berryville, Va., and a member of an ancient Virginia family, was called to Princeton in 1953 from The Rice Institute where he had been associate professor of English and director of the Fondren Library. An alumnus of the University of Virginia and formerly a teacher at Western Reserve University, Williams College and Harvard, Dix has been a member of the Princeton Public Library's Planning Committee and active in a wide variety of professional organizations.

For understanding, and stressing, that "books are among our greatest instruments of freedom"; for seeing that the American library is an invaluable weapon in the arsenal of democracy; for his leadership in helping combat "extra-legal efforts to coerce the taste of others;" he is Town Topics' nominee for

NAMING NAMES

Of Business Donors to Fund. Should charitable giving in some instances be a matter of public record? Does a community (which is still essentially a small town, and therefore subject to the forces of personal opinion in a manner that large cities are not) have the right to know how much some of its members contribute to its major fund-raising campaign?

In short, as suggested last week by the United Community Fund to the Princeton Business Association, should the names of all business contributors to the Fund be printed in the town's newspapers, together with the amounts they give? The obvious reason for advancing the proposal for consideration by the association's membership is the Fund's need for greater revenues, and an ever-present dissatisfaction with the contributions (or in some instances, the lack of them) by some segments of the Princeton business district.

In support of the possible publication of such information is the extreme need for enabling the Fund to raise its annual quota. This has not been possible in recent years, and continued deficits can only serve to weaken the structure of Princeton's essential welfare agencies. Any new policy that will legitimately increase Fund revenue should be given every opportunity to play its part in a successful campaign.

Against the publication of names and amounts contributed to business firms is the degree of irritation such procedure could cause. The mere fact that other communities, most of them larger than Princeton, have found such a policy advantageous is little positive assurance that it would be widely accepted here.

Antognism Uncovered. No poll of a dozen persons, as conducted in TOWN TOPICS' regular "Question of the Week," is intended to be an accurate cross-section of existing opinion. The fact that the business men and women who were asked this week to express their thoughts on the matter are more against the proposal than behind it carries no overwhelming significance.

Nonetheless, clear-cut opposition to the plan exists, as page 13 of this issue reveals. In a number of instances, there is firm agreement that "contributions should be confidential;" in effect, that publication of the amount of a gift is "invasion of privacy" to which the donor is entitled.

One reply to the question, offered with tongue tucked firmly in cheek, suggested that simultaneous publication be made of "profit-and-loss statements, and the political and religious beliefs of the proprietors." Another answer tabbed the plan as "a fancy style of blackmail."

If Princeton follows the example of the Delaware Valley United Fund, all firms with less than ten employees would be exempt from the glare of print. Carroll S. Moore, Nassau Estates resident and the Fund's executive vice-president, reports that publication of firm names and amounts has been successful, that "the only complaints come from establishments with less than ten employees who would like to be included in the published list."

The postcard survey started last week by the Princeton Business Association "has not yet produced a high return," it was reported Tuesday at PBA headquarters. "Of the inconclusive number of replies received, results are about evenly divided."

It may be that eventual acceptance by a clear majority of Princeton business firms can be achieved, and that the goal of materially increasing business contributions will be realized. It is wholly apparent, however, that a sizeable degree of diplomatic selling must first be accomplished in order to preserve the good will on which the United Fund is as dependent as any of the business firms from which it seeks support.

This Is Princeton

ries of the parched summer of 1957, this week sailed down the drain along with four-plus inches of rainwater measured during the first 21 days of July. The month's normal precipitation of 4.06 inches has already been surpassed — traceable primarily to the fact that the seven-day period ending Tuesday totalled 3.12 inches. Almost half of this fell on Sunday during the heavy rain that began shortly before 6 P.M.

Actually, both the southern and northern portions of the State have been harder hit by heavy downpours than Princeton. Last week, Atlantic City measured five inches within a 24-hour period, while rain and severe electrical storms did extensive damage in shore communities, Newark and the Oranges. (Lightning struck here, too, but trees were the sole noteworthy victims — picture, page 3.)

POLIO SHOTS OFFERED

At Princeton Hospital Clinic. Princeton Hospital will hold its third dollar-a-shot polio clinic next Tuesday from 4 to 5 p.m. in the Outpatient Department. The clinic will be the third in a series of four, the last of which is scheduled for August 25.

At the two earlier clinics, Princeton Hospital drew crowds of 458 and 388 people, in May and June. In sharp contrast, similar clinics in Trenton have offered savings bonds as an inducement to arouse interest and overcome public apathy. Clinics are offered in all Mercer County hospitals and are scheduled so that each week, the public can have shots at one of them.

PERSONALITIES

David H. Sawyer, 1959 Princeton graduate and University Players' producer, who last week scored a ten-year hit when audience approval of "Waiting for Godot" brought a "held over" announcement for the first time in the theatrical organization's decade of post-war activity. For details that made the decision to offer the unusual play a second week (thus achieving its first commercial success), see "News of the Theatres," page 5.

Jack G. Copeland Sd, 61 Overbrook Drive, who is completing an eight-day stay in Washington, D.C., as one of 100 U.S. high school students selected to attend the annual Boys' Nation program. Sponsored by Princeton Post 76, American Legion, the young Princetonian has participated on a "learning-by-doing" basis in the organizations and functions of the Federal Government, including the staging of party conventions, the election of a President and Vice-President and the enactment of legislation.

ROUND-UP

Princeton Avenue residents who heard firecrackers being tossed from a car last week will be glad to learn that police caught up with the mischief-makers, who were warned, not fined . . . fire kept members of the force busy in other ways: Sgt. Randolph Applegate and Patrolman Ralph Procaccino coped with three: a 1958 station wagon, owned by John Storer, 121 Moore Street, which caught fire on Nassau and was damaged to the extent of $200 . . . and two kitchen blazes, neither serious, in the homes of Mrs. Alfred Campbell, 180 John Street, and Mrs. Allen Tate, 145 Ewing.

New Jersey reports a 5 percent decrease in traffic fatalities this year (328 for the first six months, compared to 345 through June 30, 1958) in the face of an 8.2 percent increase in motor vehicle travel . . . credit, says the Attorney General's office, belongs to the "Speeders Lose Licenses" program, which brings revocation for at least 30 days of those going 10 miles an hour above 60 or 60-mile speed limits.

West Windsor Township has a new newspaper, known as "The Siren," published by Thomas and John Craig and Douglas Arcamone, priced at 1 cent . . . a July issue discoursed on Bikes ("They are fun to ride"); birds, cats ("Lions are members of the cat family"); and offered this advice on dogs: "If you want a dog, look in your TOWN TOPICS and see if anybody would like to see you one."

Incidental intelligence: New Jersey is experiencing a bumper crop of apples this summer, the largest in 22 years and 40 percent over 1958 production . . . the Mercer County Civil Defense office has a do-it-yourself booklet on how to build a home fallout shelter for as little as $150 . . . the influx of housing developments in this area has spread to the Harrison Street playground, where youngsters are building a model home (out of cardboard boxes) under the direction of Mrs. Jene Hady.

TWO FLEE SKILLMAN

Freedom Is Short-Lived. Two teenagers, patients at the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute at Skillman escaped from a fishing party at Lake Carnegie on Thursday, but both were back in custody by Saturday night. One of the youths stole and abandoned at least three automobiles during a wild, statewide spree before turning himself in at Newark.

The two boys, 13 and 14, were among more than 35 youngsters who were taken to the lake by Institute authorities. The younger boy was picked up on the university campus shortly after his disappearance. Their names were withheld by police because of their ages.

Sgt. Peter J. McCrohan, Borough juvenile officer, gave this account of the older boy's flight: After leaving the lake, he took a car belonging to Samuel Kind, owner of LaVake-Reid's jewelry shop, from Palmer Square and later abandoned it on Lovers Lane. In the car was a bag containing $55 worth of clothing.

On Friday the boy hitched a ride to Trenton. He told police he took a shirt from Mr. Kind's bag and left the bag and remaining contents at Mercer County Hospital, but the bag has not been found there. After spending a couple of hours in Trenton, he hitch-hiked back to Princeton, the youth said. He has denied taking a car which was stolen from Trenton near the hospital on Friday and recovered on Olden Avenue late in the day.

On Saturday, the boy took another car, belonging to Wilton Kennedy of 86 Birch Avenue, and drove to Union. Abandoning Mr. Kennedy's car, he stole another and traveled to Newark. After wandering through Newark for a while, he called the Institute, which sent a car to pick him up.

Sgt. McCrohan said no charges would be filed against the boy pending a report from Institute psychiatrists. Police said the youngster, who started all the cars he took with a piece of tinfoil, is "mechanically quick."

McCLELLAN IS HEADMASTER

At Lawrenceville. Bruce McClellan, 35, has been elected headmaster of the Lawrenceville School, replacing the late Dr. Allan V. Heely. Eighth headmaster in the school's 149-year history, Mr. McClellan, a former Rhodes Scholar, has been an English instructor at Lawrenceville since 1960. He was a combat pilot during World War II.

Born in Spring Grove, Pa., Mr. McClellan attended Deerfield Academy and was graduated with highest honors in English from Williams College in 1946. He then taught at Deerfield for a year. Following this, he attended New College, Oxford, on a Rhodes Scholarship for two years and returned to Williams as assistant dean, a post he held for a year before coming to Lawrenceville.

He is a board member of the Association of American Rhodes Scholars, secretary of the New Jersey Committee for Selection of Rhodes Scholars and a member of the Middle Atlantic Committee. He recently wrote an article on American writers who have attended Oxford as Rhodes Scholars.

A trustee of the Heritage Foundation, Mr. McClellan has for the past two summers been a director of the Heritage Foundation Fellowship Program for college juniors and seniors. He is the author of "Artifacts '48," a privately published book about his experiences abroad, and "No Phoenix, No Ashes," a collection of essays on the United Nations published by Maple Press of York, Pa. He has also edited a volume of short stories for Maple.

A pilot with the Eighth Air Force in Europe, he was awarded the Air Medal with clusters and the Distinguished Flying Cross. He was promoted to captain before his separation from service in September, 1945. For two summers he served as executive secretary to Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll.

He has been married since 1946 to the former Miss Mary E. Wisotzkey of York. The McClellans have three children. Mr. McClellan is an elder of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church. His predecessor, Dr. Heely, was headmaster of Lawrenceville for 25 years prior to his death last week.

SQUAD CAR IN CRASH

Other Driver Summoned. Miss Bettina Burbidge, 20, 219 Prospect Avenue, was charged by Borough police with failure to yield right of way after her automobile was involved in a collision with a Township police car on Sunday morning. The collision took place at the intersection of Harrison Street and Prospect Avenue.

Township Patrolman Michael Lisi, 28, told Borough police he was traveling south toward Prospect on Harrison, a through street. According to police, Miss Burbridge, driving west on Prospect, stopped at the stop sign, then proceeded into the intersection, where her car was struck by Patrolman Lisi's. Patrolman Michael Carnevale and Officer Thomas J. Procaccino investigated for Borough police.

KELLY FINED $210

For Assault. Mortimer Kelly, 34, of New York City, was fined $210 in Borough Court Monday night after conviction on a charge of assault and battery. Kelly was accused of beating up a 76-year-old man on the Princeton campus during last month's reunions.

Magistrate Theodore T. Tame Jr. also fined Thomas S. James, 22, 45 Vandeventer Avenue, $15 for failure to display license plates properly.

Assault Case in Township. A charge of assault and battery cost Layton Smith, 187 Birch Avenue, $25 and a 30-day suspended workhouse term when he was arraigned before Magistrate Louis R. Gerber in Princeton Township. He was accused of fighting with Mrs. Nellie Scott of the same address.

Robert S. Haller, 26, 32 Witherspoon Lane, paid a $25 fine. The charge was careless driving.

In Trenton, the Department of Motor Vehicles announced revocation for a year of the license of Ernest Anderson of that city. He was at the wheel in the accident which took the life of Miss Irene Carter of Hopewell last December 30 on Washington Road.

Guiseppe Gaudioso, 21, 90 Birch Avenue, has had his license revoked for three months. His record shows a "stop" sign violation, speeding, disregarding an officer's signal and a traffic light violation.

Blues At The Beach

Princeton weather
May be a bore,
But pity those
Who're at the shore!

C. SHELL

Good question: Which is bluer—the ocean on a bright, sparkling day, or those whose vacation at the shore coincides with one of the wettest weeks in July history? (See "This Is Princeton," page 1.)

If the rains were gone (for a while), the humidity was not. The latter would continue to top the temperature for the rest of the week, the Man said sadly. Could mean showers here and there, but hopes were for something slightly better by Saturday.

WHAT'S ON THE AGENDA?

For Township Committee. The Township Committee, which met in executive session Tuesday night, has scheduled a special public meeting at 8:30 next Tuesday. Public hearings will be held on four pending ordinances, including one authorizing the construction of a sewer line at Herrontown Circle.

The route chosen by the committee for the sewer was one of three proposed alternate routes. The sewer will be built entirely on Township right-of-way and will require a lift station to move sewage from the circle to the main. Other routes, which would not have required a lift pump, were drawn partially on privately-owned land. The proposed ordinance allocates $45,000 for the project.

Public hearings will also be held on ordinances accepting Terhune Road between Harrison and Ewing Streets; Monroe Road and parts of Grover and Randall Roads; and one allocating $7,500 for the development for recreational purposes of three and a half acres of Township land adjacent to the Shopping Center.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

By Jaycees. Bernard Cooke was sworn into office as president of the Princeton Jaycees last week at ceremonies held at the Nassau Inn. Leonard Newton, Princeton resident and State Jaycee president, installed Mr. Cooke.

John Henderson, internal vice-president, and John Ehmann, external vice-president, were installed by Lloyd Klatzkin, national director. Other officers sworn in were William Feist, secretary; William Fry, treasurer; and Russell Swartley and Lloyd Vansant, directors. Wayne Deswert, New Jersey vice-president, installed them.

PLAYGROUNDS ACTIVE

With Games and Shows. The Littlebrook softball team beat Valley Road's last week, as the playgrounds continued a wide range of summer activity. Chess has been added to the program at Harrison Park and the High School, with tournaments to be held in the near future.

At the Pine Street pool, where Miss Jessie Hurd is in charge, an amateur show was staged in which Rosemary Toto, Pamela Norman, Susan Petrone, Michael Perna, Kathleen Foley and Terry Auletta participated. Quite a different show was held at Marquand Park where Alexander Holt and Wickie Bishop won prizes for their dogs. Bruce Berrie, Frazer Lively and John Murphy received honorable mention.

Dance Contest Held. At the Valley Road playground, Pat Rhodes and Michael Hill were the winners in a dance competition, with Daisy Lockhart and Lorraine Williams taking second place. John and Denise Hill were third.

"GODOT" HELD OVER

By University Players. Unprecedented attendance and demand for tickets has caused the University Players to hold over their production of Samuel Beckett's "Waiting for Godot" for another week of performances. The play will be presented at Murray Theatre through Saturday. Performances are at 8:30.

The production played to capacity houses on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, and was only five tickets away from a sellout on Thursday. The week's total attendance was 998, which is 95 percent of capacity and more than 10 percent higher than any other production in the 10-year history of the postwar Players.

Holding over the play will involve the cancellation of "Born Yesterday." Shaw's "The Philanderer," originally scheduled for this week, will be presented next Tuesday through Saturday. Directed by Philip Minor, "The Philanderer" will star John Wynne-Evans, Joan Hackett and James Harder, all of whom were featured in the Players' production of "The Play's the Thing" two weeks ago.

Written in 1893, "The Philanderer" is a satire on "new" men and women who hastened to abandon conventional morality in the wake of the turmoil stirred up by Norwegian playwright Henrik Ibsen. Mr. Minor directed Shaw's "Heartbreak House" in 1957 and "Misalliance" last year.

According to the Players, "Waiting for Godot" has never

ESTRAGON AND VLADIMIR: Better known in playbills as James Harder and Philip Minor, who star in the University Players' current production of "Waiting for Godot."

before been a commercial success, although it was staged with critical acceptance in Paris, London and New York. A Players spokesman described its success here as "astonishing."

"Godot" stars James Harder, Philip Minor, John Wynne-Evans, Nick Savian and Michael Dugan. David Sawyer directed. Tickets and information may be obtained from the University Players, Murray Theatre, WA 4-3539, or from the Curry Agency in Trenton or the Charles Fourth Gallery in New Hope.

THEATRE GROUP FORMED

For Teen-agers. The Little Theatre of Princeton has been formed to give youngsters from 13-21 a chance to participate in dramatic productions. Opening night for the first production of the group, which is led by Diana Terry, will be next Thursday, when "Land of Heart's Desire," by William B. Yeats is scheduled for curtain time at 8:30.

Performances will be in the Unitarian Church of Princeton and will be given free of charge. Co-feature with "Land of Heart's Desire" will be the play by Sir James M. Barrie, "The Seven Women," and several smaller plays. The bill will play Thursday and Friday nights, with two performances scheduled for Saturday.

Miss Terry, Cosy Spitzer and Bob Blumenfield will direct the plays, and Claire Alden and Mary Lee Skinner will be in charge of costumes. Cast members include Virginia Corbett, Tyler Gatchell, Barbara Hafenmier, Anne Waldron, Barbara Alden, Carl Frederickson, John Fredrickson, Richard Tinsley, Lynne Wetterau, Steven Lockwood, Betsy Parker, Linda Almgren and Peter Vajk.

COMEDY TO OPEN

At Bucks County Playhouse. "Cradle and All," a comedy by Summer Long, will open at the Bucks County Playhouse Monday evening. The play is scheduled to appear on Broadway following its tryout at Bucks County.

Directed by Henry Denker, "Cradle" stars comedian Loring Smith, motion picture actress Una Merkel and television personality Dick Van Dyke, with James Arenton, Sally Kamp and Helena Smith in supporting roles. It concerns a blessed event late in life and the transformation that comes over a household when it is discovered that mother is going to have a baby.

Director Denker authored "Time Limit," produced several seasons ago on Broadway, and "Sound of Distant Thunder," which is scheduled for early production.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Ask Any Girl (July 22-25) features Shirley MacLaine, David Niven and Gig Young, all of them in fine form, in a perceptive and witty satire on motivation research, ad agencies, New York nightlife, women's residence hotels, the Beat Generation and just about everything else that happens to pass across the screen. The film generates the same kind of sophisticated warmth as did "The Tender Trap," and it's funnier.

The plot is simple: Miss MacLaine, an intriguing but innocent dish from Wilkes-Barre, comes to the big city to find whatever it is girls from Wilkes-Barre come to the big city to find. After fending off a number of tweeded wolves, she takes a job smoking cigarettes for an ad agency which is doing motivation research on a strawberry-flavored filter. Her bosses are a pair of brothers, Niven and Young. Shirley falls in love with Young. When her affection is not returned, she gets together with Niven and the two of them apply the principles of the hidden persuaders in an effort to bring Young around. Niven pilfers his brother's little black book and he and Shirley analyze the features of each girl to whom Young is attracted. This accomplished, Shirley tries making herself over into an agglomerate of all the girls Young has ever liked.

It's all done at a fast pace and the principals are supported by a fine script from George Wells. Miss MacLaine is particularly entrancing, displaying the combination of elfin naivete and frank sexiness that has served her so well in the last year or two. The film is in CinemaScope and color. Recommended.

Don't Give Up the Ship (July 26-28) should mark a turning point in the chantic career of Jerry Lewis. From here on in there's no way to go but up. "Don't Give Up the Ship" features, in addition to Lewis, Dina Merrill, Diana Spencer, Mickey Shaughnessy, Robert Middleton and Gale Gordon. They are given frail support by a script which sounds like it was written by a college freshman who hasn't quite digested elementary Max Shulman.

Lewis, who, parantheticelly, is one of the few persons alive who can touch his nose with his lower lip, plays at the role of John Paul Steckler, a young sailor. When Admiral Budde (Robert Middleton) tries to get Congress to appropriate more money for the Navy, he is told by the investigating committee that before his request can be considered he must locate a missing World War II destroyer escort, the "USS Kornblatt." It soon appears that Lewit has bunglingly misplaced the ship. Making this premise funny for 60 minutes is a task that no one connected with the picture was up to.

Last Train from Gun Hill (July 29-August 1) is another good Western produced under the aegis of Hal Wallis, who was responsible for the excellent "Gunfight at the O.K. Corral." Starring Kirk Douglas and Anthony Quinn, the film treats what is usually coyly referred to as "an adult theme" — in other words, there's a little sex — but this concession to the conventions of the modern Western is completed early in the film and from then on the men hold the spotlight unassisted.

Douglas portrays a sheriff whose Indian wife, played, interestingly enough, by Israeli actress Ziva Rodann, is raped and murdered by two drunken cowboys. Douglas has two clues to go on: a saddle belonging to one of the men, and the knowledge that Miss Rodann, in her struggle, scarred one attacker's face with a whip.

He recognizes the saddle as belonging to Quinn, an old friend who controls Gun Hill, a town 100 miles away. Quinn greets Douglas warmly, but pales when he finds out his son (Earl Holliman) —Continued on Page 8

IT'S NEW To Us

A SIP THAT'S COOL

Have a Beer, Dear? At the Wine and Game Shop this particular July, there are 20 imported 28 American beers (figures include ales). If you can't find happiness somewhere in those 48, we suggest you go back to sarsaparilla.

All the beer at Wine and Game is cold, all of it comes in cans, pints or quarts. You may have, in short, anything from seven to 32 ounces.

Some pleasant Franz Weber wines enliven summer lunches and dinners. These are Mosel and Rhine wines and they include the Riesling Ruedesheimer Sonnenberg, 1957 for $1.98, Moselblumchen for $1.69 and the Johannesberger Erntebringer for $2.19. The latter two come from the vintage of 1957 also.

If you'd like a white Burgundy, Wine and Game has two suggestions to make. One is the Mont de Milieu, a Chablis for $2.97, the other is a Montrachet for $3.99. Both are available by the case at $32.08 and $43.10 respectively.

Rose wines are available from $1.49 to $3.68 a bottle. There's the Vin Rose by Sichet et Fils Freres, for $2.55, a rose d'anjou for $1.49 and Chateau de Selle's Domaines Ott for $3.09.

By the way, Wine and Game reminds you that, although the label on a rose wine says "serve well-chilled," this does not mean half-frozen to a mush. The French idea of "chilled" may be several degrees above the chilling that can be produced by an American refrigerator. Too much cold destroys the delicate flavor of the wine.

Sauce for the Swordfish. Summer salads, greens or seafood, call for special dressings and the Nassau Del on Palmer Square has a row of the most enticing sauces and dressings for every kind of summer dish.

Del Charro's Neptune Sauce is a combination of Del Charro's No. 7 Salad Dressing, Beluga caviar, chives and horseradish. You use it on seafood aspics, as a nest for hors d'oeuvres, on cold salmon or swordfish, on fried oysters or anything else you fish from the deep.

That No. 7 dressing is salad dressing and a sauce supreme for fruit salads or for such vegetables as the artichoke, asparagus, cabbage (in cole slaw) or cold potato in salad. You may also use it on green salads and on almost any kind of cold meat, such as chicken, veal, beef, game and so on.

Del Charro also makes a Bombay sauce for curries, cracked crab, trout or salmon.

If your backyard cookery is done from patio rather than from beach, you'll want Milani barbecue sauce. There is also Trader Vic's barbecue sauce and some arcane special called Tang O'Beef, which is a sauce and not an Irishman.

Cresca presents an old-fashioned French dressing and Diafoods has a low-calorie dressing for people who are not quite up to Neptune Sauce on fried oysters. You-All has a low-calorie dressing, too. These low-calorie dressings produce less than one calorie per teaspoon, which ought to keep anybody slim.

For dessert — but probably not after that cold salmon — the Del suggests Alaskan Gold Nugget ice-cream. The nuggets you prospect for are filberts and the ice-cream is actually a filbert toffee. Good enough for us.

Sunday Boot. The Clark Desert Boot has been a feature of the male wardrobe almost as long as spats and a cane. It appears now in a new version for dress. Presumably to wear in oases.

The Dress Desert Boot looks the same on the outside. You buy it in a color called "Truffle" or in "Olive" (see what we mean by "dress?") and inside the truffle or the olive, you find a complete lining of leather. There is also a leather sole and heel, as opposed to the crepe sole and heel of the everyday desert boot.

Price is $16.95, store is Brophy's, on Palmer Square. The boot is also available in black, which Mr. Brophy will order especially for you.

A Gift For Your Church

The Silver Shop on Palmer Square has acquired two unusual pieces of ecclesiastical furniture—if you can call them that—and either one of the items would be a fine present for some parishioner to give to his church.

First of all there is a Communion set in a leather case. Once the property of a canon of Albany Cathedral, this little kit in its purple-lined case, contains all the equipment needed by an Episcopalian clergyman to administer Holy Communion to the sick or dying. There is a three-inch sterling silver platter for the wafer, a chalice of sterling about four inches high and a glass and silver wine cruet.

In addition, the Silver Shop has a solid brass cross, 25 inches high. It rises from a seven-inch hexagonal pedastal and it is absolutely plain, without beveling or decoration of any kind.

If someone would like to buy the cross for his church, the Silver Shop will have it cleaned and re-lacquered free of charge.

MUSIC
In Princeton

MRS. HARSANYI SINGS

Offers Varied Program. In a program ranging from a lieder group to arias by George Gershwin and Roger Sessions, Janice Harsanyi gave Princeton music lovers a delightful treat Monday evening. The concert was part of the University Players' summer festival. In spite of a heavy thunderstorm just before the beginning of the concert, the concert was well attended.

A beautiful woman with a pleasing stage appearance and manner, Mrs. Harsanyi was as much a delight to look at as she was to listen to. She has a big, well-schooled soprano voice and is not afraid of using it to its full extent when the song requires it, as in "My Man's Gone Now" from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" and in the encores, "Depuis le Jour" from Charpentier's "Louise" and a Richard Strauss piece.

Mrs. Harsanyi began the program with a group of English songs, including two Purcell arias arranged by Benjamin Britten and a lovely Handel song, "O Sleep, Why Dost Thou Leave Me."

The second Purcell song, "Man Is for the Woman Made," appeared to be the only questionable choice of the recital, being appropriate to a baritone and not suited for Mrs. Harsanyi's beautiful soprano.

A second group included two Schumann songs and a Schubert work, "Der Hirt auf dem Felsen" which she sang in faultless German and with exquisite understanding and shading. In the Schubert work, she was assisted, in addition to the accompanist, Richard Cumming, by Jac Ratterree on clarinet. The blend of the soprano, the clarinet and the lovely piano part made this song a particularly charming listening experience.

The group of American songs contained, besides the Gershwin, an aria from "The Trial of Lucullus" by Roger Sessions. Completed in 1947, the one-act opera has a libretto by Bertholt Brecht of "The Threepenny Opera" fame. Judging from the aria Mrs. Harsanyi sang, it would be exciting to hear the full opera.

The French group included a short, impressionistic song by Debussy and a Chausson song, "Chanson Perpetuelle." The concert ended with three songs by Grieg with German texts.

Throughout the recital Mrs. Harsanyi sang with great beauty. Richard Cumming, who is also composer for the University Players, accompanied her with a rare combination of musicianship and feeling.

SINGER: Bass-baritone Donald Gramm will be heard in McCosh 10 on Monday. His appearance is part of the University Players' summer concert series.

DONALD GRAMM TO SING

On Monday Night. Young bass-baritone Donald Gramm will appear in a University Players concert at McCosh 10 at 8:30 on Monday. Mr. Gramm, described by the New York Herald Tribune as "perfection made human," will perform works by Dvorak, Faure and Paul Bowles, as well as "Three Chinese Wine Songs" by Richard Cumming, composer for the University Players. Mr. Cummings will accompany Mr. Gramm.

Mr. Gramm has appeared with virtually every major orchestra in America, including the Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles and San Francisco symphonies. He has been featured at the New York City Opera, Chicago's Lyric Theatre, the American Opera Society, the NBC-TV Opera and the Chicago Theater of the Air.

has a scar on his face and is missing his saddle. Douglas arrests Hollimen over Quinn's pleas and waits with the boy in a hotel for the train. Quinn by this time has gathered a group of men outside the hotel and is prepared to shed blood to save his son's life.

The story is uniformly well-acted, and John Sturges' direction throws an aura of hitching-post Hitchcock suspense over the final portion. James Poe contributed the straightforward, no-nonsense script. The film is in VistaVision and Technicolor.

THE GARDEN

It Happened in June (July 23-25 is a wacky story of love and Big Business (Hollywood style) featuring Doris Day, Jack Lemmon and Ernie Kovacs. All three do creditable jobs, but it is Kovacs' brilliant portrayal of a railroad tycoon who prides himself on being "the meanest man in the world" that lifts the picture a cut above ordinary situation comedy.

Miss Day, a young widow in a New England town, has started a mail-order lobster business in order to support herself. When a shipment of lobsters dies in transit because of Kovacs' penurious railroading policies, Miss Day has Lemmon, a lawyer and friend, enter a suit for damages. Kovacs instructs his lawyers to settle, but only for the wholesale price of the lobsters. When the court awards Miss Day triple damages, Kovacs files an appeal to delay payment. At this, Miss Day gets a writ of attachment and legally shanghais one of Kovacs' trains.

Through it all there is a running gag about a left-handed lobster that provides some happy moments. It is Kovacs, however, with his masterful timing and inflection, who is the star of this film, no matter what the marquee says. The picture is in color. Recommended.

The Three Faces of Eve (July 27-29), another Garden revival, is the picture which won an Academy Award for Joanne Woodward, who plays the triple-visaged title role with intensity and power. Adapted from a true psychiatric case-history, the picture is a fascinating chronicle of a Southern woman whose personality is split in three: the mousy, nervous housewife; the sexy, brassy pick-up; and Jane, the mature, personable, apparently normal young woman.

The story of her psychiatric treatment, replete with flashbacks to all three personalities, is intriguing, and the final flashback to the childhood experience that caused the entire aberration is one of moviedom's more horrific moments. Our one reservation was a lingering suspicion that Miss Woodward was overacting from time to time, but that seems to be what wins "best-actress" Oscars these days, so who are we to quibble? The film is in black-and-white CinemaScope and stereophonic sound.

THEY'RE AGAINST IT: Both Darby Bannard (left) and Robert R. Comly registered objections to the proposal to publish names and amounts given of all business contributors to the United Community Fund. For the views of other Princeton businessmen who answered Town Topics' "Question of the Week" this week, see below.

Question of the Week

Question: Do you agree with the proposal to publish the names, together with the amounts contributed, of all businesses which give to the United Community Fund?

Asked: Of businessmen and women.

Nelson Deyo, the Cummins Shop, 96 Nassau Street: I do not like the idea. Contributions should be confidential; they are a private matter. I do feel, however, that everyone should give, even if it's only a nickel. I'd like to see every citizen listed as a contributor.

Darby Bannard, the Little Gallery, 39 Palmer Square West: Sure, why not? And while we're at it, let's publish the businesses' records, profit-and-loss statements and the political and religious beliefs of the proprietors. That way we'll all know everything about everybody, and we'll really be able to separate the good guys from the bad guys in this town.

Marcelle Staiger, French Shop, 20 Nassau Street: I don't think it's right. After all, you give what you can afford and not everybody can afford much.

Leon Weintraub, Morris Men's Shop, 30 Witherspoon Street: Yes, I think so. I feel that whatever a person gives is their expression or feeling toward that particular fund, and if they do give there's no reason why they should not want to have it publicized. It will put some of the big firms which do not give in a bad light.

Meyer Goldstein, Viedt's Restaurant, 110 Nassau Street: I feel that our donations are always a private matter between our consciences and ourselves. I do not condone being shamed or pressured to give more. The yardstick should be our conscience.

Dominick Zullo, Reilly's Meat Market, 22 Witherspoon Street: For us, personally, it's all right, but there are a lot of small businesses which won't like it. Of course it gives a lot of free advertising.

Aaron Stein, Radio Center, 12-14 Witherspoon Street: I don't care. I don't think it is an issue at all. If I give $20, I don't care whether they tell anybody or not.

Richard W. Knight, manager, Playhouse and Garden theatres: No, I don't think that would be good at all. It's more or less a fancy style of blackmail.

Charles Tulumaio, Nassau Bootery, 175 Nassau Street: The name, yes, but not the contributions. The fact that they've contributed is enough. If one firm can afford $25 and another one can't, God bless them both. A small firm like mine can't afford $25 like that big fellow.

Robert McDonald, clerk, Yeoman's Liquor Store, 108 Nassau Street: I don't think they should. Your contribution is your business and nobody else's.

Robert R. Comly, the Silver Shop, 59 Palmer Square West: I've never approved of making amounts public and I often contribute anonymously. I think it's fine to contribute, but I wouldn't approve of the publicity.

Fund Furor

Should the United Community Fund publish the names, together with the amounts contributed, of all businesses which give to the fund? Seeking an answer to the problem of what to do about large firms which give little or nothing to the fund, fund officials and others have put forth this suggestion.

The Princeton Business Association, in a postcard poll, is seeking to find out how its members feel about the idea. TOWN TOPICS this week asked its inquiring reporter to get the views of a cross-section of Princeton businessmen on the issue.

The response, while not unanimous, was overwhelmingly in opposition to the proposal. Said one merchant: "I think it's a shocking invasion of privacy, a piece of blackmail and if it goes through I refuse to contribute to the fund at all." Another businessman, who also opposed the publication idea, said he'd like to see "an announcement of how much members of PBA gave collectively." For other reactions, see this page.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Miley Persing and a brother, The Rev. Lloyd Fredericks, pastor of the Palmyra Baptist Church, officiated at the service which was held at the Mather Funeral Home. Interment was in Penns Neck cemetery.

I. Russell Riker, 67, of 25 Harriet Drive, died suddenly July 15 at his home. Associated with the Borough of Princeton in an engineering capacity since 1931, he had held many positions at the state level as well as serving on a consulting basis to more than a score of municipalities and private institutions during his 43-year career.

(For an estimate of his contributions in a professional capacity to this community, see "Report from the Mayor" on page 15.)

Born in Caldwell, Mr. Riker graduated in 1916 from Cornell University, earning his degree in civil engineering. Prior to coming here, he had served the New Jersey State Department of Health as sanitary engineer, had seen military service during World War I and had begun a 36-year association with the Lawrenceville School as its consulting engineer.

In his selection as TOWN TOPICS' "Man of the Week," (August, 1956) he was cited for "his devotion to the sometimes thankless task of furthering the best interests of the Borough of Princeton," and for "his demonstrated competence in the related fields of municipal and sanitary engineering." He held membership in numerous state and national engineering, planning and health associations.

Report from THE MAYOR

Shock and Sadness. All of us in Princeton were shocked and saddened by the news last Wednesday of the death of I. Russell Riker. After more than a quarter century of outstanding service to this community, Russ died on the very eve of the retirement he had so richly earned.

Since 1934, he had carried with distinction the tremendous responsibilities of the post of Borough Engineer. These were years when the rapid changes in Princeton demanded the application of courage and skill in the guidance and supervision of a host of planning, zoning and engineering matters.

And History, Too. Along with the careful application of the engineer's detailed knowledge, Russ was able, out of the experience of years, to give mayors and councilmen more than a bit of philosophy and history, too, about our town, its past and its future. Just a few days ago, he provided some of this at the public hearing of the Planning Boerd.

There had been a lot of discussion — and just plain wondering — about Harry's Brook and how it got where it now is in the Borough. Russ, relieved of the chore he carried for so many years as official Secretary of the Board, rose as a private citizen to spell out some fascinating details of the Brook's history.

When he finished, the Board and its audience were obviously impressed. The Mayor asked if he could add just one more "footnote to history" and explain "Who was Harry?"

"I don't know," said Russ, "but he must have been a trustee of the University!"

Good Translations. Russ Riker had the knack of being able to translate complicated engineering details into the kind of understandable language that the citizen and non-engineering local officials could grasp. He also translated well his forecasts of community needs into engineering accomplishments.

Thus Princeton Borough has never faced the kind of "crisis" with respect to overtaxed sanitary facilities that has plagued many fast-growth towns. Even the casual visitor can see that Princeton has benefited from a lot of sound engineering and from a careful attention to the many small but important items of community "housekeeping."

These last 25 years have seen a lot of constructive engineering attention to storm and sanitary sewer systems, the incinerator, the many Borough buildings, the streets and curbs and parking areas, the parks and playgrounds, the thousands of trees along the rights of way, and many, many other areas of municipal concern.

There are many monuments around Princeton to this man's record. Some are in stone or wood. Even more important are those in the memories of a grateful community.

"Tell It to the Mayor!" The regular weekly open house sessions will be held on Thursday, July 23, and Thursday, July 30, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

Last week's visitors covered a wide range of topics from the need — and a possible solution — for apartment housing in Princeton to the need for some quick repairs to a stop sign that had been turned around by a passing car. The latter is repaired. The former is something that is getting some steady attention from the Planning Board's consultant as part of the eighteen month's contract recently approved.

LEASE-A-CAR OPENS

At 242½ Nassau Street, Gearhart Enterprises, Inc., an auto-leasing firm with offices in Denville and Hanover, N.J., opened a Princeton branch at 242½ Nassau Street on Monday. The firm will rent cars and trucks to individuals or businesses on either a long- or short-term basis.

Those interested in long-term leasing will have their choice of make, model and accessory equipment. Under the leasing plan, the monthly rental charge covers all expenses except gasoline.

Manager of the Princeton branch is Michael J. McCrink of Red Bank. Mr. McCrink has been in the automotive business for 10 years, serving as special representative of the Dodge Trucks Division of Chrysler Corporation and with Adam Black & Sons of Jersey City. The office will employ one worker under Mr. McCrink.

President and founder of the two-year-old firm is Frank C. Gearhart of Boonton, N.J. In addition to the Lease-A-Car operation, Mr. Gearhart heads Gearhart Plymouth Sales Inc., in Hanover. The total resources of the rental firm are in excess of $600,000.

MORE OFF-STREET PARKING

At Nassau and Charlton. Plans to open a new off-street parking lot on Nassau Street near Charlton were announced this week by Bryce Thompson IV. At the same time, Mr. Thompson reported that he is now sole owner of the office building at 195 Nassau Street, which he has purchased from the estate of his grandfather, John J. Golden.

The parking lot, ready to be black-topped, will open on August 1 and will have space available on a monthly lease basis for 40 to 50 cars. A number of trees have been removed to make the lot the largest privately-owned area on Nassau Street, Mr. Thompson said. Entrance and exit will be from Nassau, with an exit via Charlton Street an eventual possibility.

In addition to plans for renovating the 195 Nassau Street structure (and renaming it "The Thompson Building,") the new owner has acquired with it an additional 17 feet of front footage adjacent to the Nassau Street School. Future plans call for construction of a modern, two-story office building on the site.

Its depth can range as high as 150 feet or more, Mr. Thompson said, with front and rear entrances and adequate off-street parking available. Construction and design will follow the requirements of the principal tenant.

PUBLIC SERVICE TO MOVE

To Shopping Center. After 22 years in its present location at 42 Nassau Street, and many more elsewhere in the center of town before the construction of Palmer Square, the Public Service Electric and Gas Co. is moving. As of August 1, it will be located in the Shopping Center.

As revealed earlier this year, the space occupied by Public Service has been leased to Langrock, Inc., men's wear store which has been in its 40 Nassau Street location for more than three decades. No date has been set by Langrock's for the move and no new tenant for its present address has been announced.

53-ACRE LAND TRACT SOLD

To Trenton Development Group. A 53-acre tract of land on Ridge Road off U.S. Highway No. 1 near Princeton and Monmouth Junction, has been sold to the Ridge Road Land Corp., a newly-formed Trenton group, through the M & M Realty Company of Trenton.

The land is part of that owned by Robert J. Flood, of Monmouth Junction, a business consultant. He stated that an easement and option on a smaller eight-acre tract adjacent to it has also been granted to the Ridge Road Land Corporation.

Specific plans for development of the tract have not been announced. The new owners intend to improve the land either commercially or residentially.

NAVY CONTRACT TO RCA

For Submarine Air-Conditioner. A contract for the design of a new type of air-conditioning system for use in submarines has been awarded by the U. S. Navy Bureau of Ships to the Radio Corporation of America. Utilizing thermo-electric principles, the system will refrigerate without compressors, motors or other moving parts, and can thus be made more rugged, compact, flexible, and easily maintainable than conventional air conditioners.

The Navy contract will be supervised by the Development Engineering group of RCA Defense Electronic Products in Camden, with the RCA Laboratories at Princeton acting as general consultant. Pioneering work done at the David Sarnoff Research Center in Princeton has laid the foundation for the work.

The air conditioner is based on the "Peltier effect," which was discovered by the French physicist more than 120 years ago. This effect is concerned with the production of a heating or cooling process by electric current passing through the junction of two dissimilar materials. Whether the effect heats or cools depends on the direction of the current. In what RCA physicists believe may be the first practical applications of the effect, heat removed from the air is dissipated through a liquid cooling system.

PARADE TO GLORY

The story of the Shriners and their hospitals for crippled children.

By Fred VanDeventer, 32°
Crescent Temple

Numbering among their members many of the continent's most distinguished citizens, the Shriners now march over 800,000 strong. Parade to Glory tells their splendid story from 1870 through 1958 with the verve that is typical of this colorful force in American life. Here are the great and leading personalities of the Shrine and the events that have influenced Shrine history and the story of the development of the hospitals for crippled children, available to all needy patients, regardless of race or creed.

The author of Parade to Glory is himself a Shriner and is the Imperial Historian of the organization. He is most widely known as a news commentator and as a star of the radio and TV program, "Twenty Questions." In Parade to Glory he combines a proud delight in Shrine history with a reporter's instinct for a good story—which is, indeed, the ultimate recommendation for this unique and highly entertaining volume.

In Princeton

FOOTBALL OUTLOOK—II

This is the second of a series of four articles on Princeton football prospects for 1959.

Sophomore Strength Evaluated. Football coaches notoriously play down the fact that a football team unbeaten as freshmen is about to join the varsity ranks. "They may have been able to handle the teams on their schedule," the feeling is, "but it will take them a long time to learn what goes on at the varsity level."

If an unbeaten football team (and Princeton has had two such with the Classes of 1960 and '61) fails to evoke much enthusiasm, an outfit that wins only two of its six games is considered to be a year away at best. "By the time they are juniors," freshman coach Jake McCandless believes, "some of the guys I had last fall should be of considerable help to the varsity. This year, however, they'll spend most of their time learning in practice and as reserves."

The records show how right the coaches are. For example, Princeton in 1956 was not a solid team, losing its final games to Yale and Dartmouth by large margins, but a year later the unbeaten Class of 1960 was represented by just two players (Frank Szvetecz and Jim Stansbury) in the starting lineup.

Last fall, the Class of 1961 also had two of its members in the starting lineup against Yale and Dartmouth. While both were good, neither would have held more than reserve positions had not the players counted on as regulars been injured. End Jim Blair won Stansbury's job when the latter missed the entire season because of a slipped disc in his back, and Hugh Scott filled in beautifully for both Dan Sachs and Jack Sullivan, both injured at tailback.

Two from '62 Possibilities. It is possible that two members of the present sophomore crop may earn starting berths on the Tigers' 1959 varsity, which would put the Class of '62 on a par with its predecessors in this respect, at least. The difference is in the depth (or lack of it) that the upcoming sophomores will add to the varsity. Phil Carlin, last year's freshman captain, may be groomed as the starting quarterback, and John Craig may have the potential to earn a tackle berth for himself.

In all, there are 11 players believed to be above average in the sophomore class, which last year beat only Columbia and Harvard, tied Rutgers and lost to Penn, Colgate and Yale. Eight are linemen, three are backs.

The rundown, by positions:

Ends: John Detrick and Jim Hunter, both 6-2, with Deitrick at 195 ten pounds the heavier. Hunter came along very well during the latter half of his freshman season and showed good promise as a pass receiver. Deitrick, who stands little chance of seeing much action this year behind such ends as Blair, Lynn Oxenrider, Bill McKenzie and possibly a mended Jim Stansbury, may be shifted to tackle.

Tackles: John Craig, Dave Connors and Russ Tornrose. As indicated above, the big hope for sophomore line strength lies in Craig, an Oklahoma transfer who was a year late in taking up the offer of admission he received here in 1957. Ineligible last fall, he worked out with the jayvees and was tabbed by Fred Tiley as "the only lineman to hit me in scrimmage who ever shook me up.") Craig can play either tackle or guard, may develop fast enough to win a berth in his first year on the varsity. He stands six feet and weighs a raw-boned 190.

Connors, at 210 one of several big freshman tackles last fall, was a regular for McCandless and is rated as a definite "comer." Tornrose, a Massachusetts resident as is Connors, is five pounds under the latter, showed good progress last fall and is also being counted on for regular reserve duty.

Guards: Glen Allgaier and Ed Weihenmayer. The former has already caught the coaches' eye with his speed and blocking ability, and figures to fit into the "running" guard position in the Tigers' single-wing offense. Only 170, he is tough and wiry — and strong enough to throw the shot in track. Weihenmayer, 188 and the other starting guard for the Class of '62, has good lasting

BETTY WHELAN
Championship Golfer

If 13 has 'ever been an unlucky number to Betty Whelan, chances are she'll never feel that way about it again. When she stood on Springdale's first tee Friday afternoon for the last 18 holes of the 36-hole final in the Garden State Women's Golf Association tournament, she was 13 up.

Actually, as Mrs. Whelan pointed out, "I won the big one the day before." It was in the semi-final round that she ousted a three-time champion in the event, Mrs. Marge Mason of Ridgewood. Touring the rain-soaked course in 38-39—77, just four over women's par, the 39-year old Princeton housewife defeated her north Jersey opponent, 2 and 1.

That feat had its effect on the tournament's other finalist, Mrs. Jack Silberberg of Crestmont, who until the championship round had shot some pretty solid golf of her own. While Mrs. Silberberg's game fell apart under the pressure, Mrs. Whelan won the first four holes, ten of the first 11 and 13 of the first 18. Throughout the morning and afternoon rounds, she never lost a hole and closed out the match after playing just four of the final 18—a 15 and 14 victor.

Probably the most intriguing aspect of the "Whelan story" is the fact that the new champion never played golf until she was 28. Success came relatively quickly on the heels of the inevitable hours and weeks of practice: three years after she had taken up the game, she was the women's champion at Springdale. Top honors in Trenton District golf followed, as did ability to qualify for the Woman's National Amateur Championship in 1953.

At Springdale, Mrs. Whelan has toured the tough 18-hole layout from the women's tees in 73—a total that at the time was one under par. Considerably better than many a male member of the club, she is the target of good-natured comments from the men if she tees off a few minutes before the 1:30 starting hour set for women on weekends.

As the visitor to the club steps out on the porch, the eye is caught by a plaque bearing the names of women club champions at Springdale. From 1951 through 1958, there is no other name than "Betty Whelan." Odds are all that the string will not only continue there but—now that "my first really big one" has been achieved—other plaques, bowls and assorted symbols of championship golf will go to the engraver with an order for the same name.

quality and above-average potential on both offense and defense.

Center: John Colyer, 8-1, 180, came along last season to win the starting assignment in his final three games. Barring injury to Saveterz and Jerry Sullivan, however, he will see little action in his first year on the varsity.

Backs: The class of '62 was shorter in backfield ability and depth than any of its predecessors since '59. One sophomore, however, will fit into early plans for a major experiment: switching Mike Ippolito from quarterback to fullback, to replace Fred Tiley, thereby leaving the quarterback slot open.

If the plan works, Carlin may take his place with George Chandler and Jack Supsch as one of the few Princeton players to serve as the Tigers' field general for three years. Belief is that the 197-lb., 5-11 back from Columbus, O., has the all-around blocking ability to hold down the vital "two back" assignment in Dick Colman's plan of attack, and that he can learn single-wing strategy. He was a fullback last year under McCandless.

Two other backs are included among the top sophomore prospects: fullback Jim Lynch and wingback Henry Large. Both are unusually big at 200 pounds, and each figures to see limited action this fall. Lynch, slowed a good deal by injuries as a freshman, could give more experienced members of the varsity a run for reserve duty behind Ippolito.

Indications are, from the foregoing, that the sophomores are expected to play even less of a part in Princeton's success than usual. This stems from two factors: their own somewhat subpar ability and the presence on the varsity of "back-to-back" classes unbeaten as freshmen.

In a number of instances, the depth chart this season is likely to show three juniors or seniors before a sophomore is listed. Next week, TOWN TOPICS will take a look at the Princeton lineup as it stands before the squad reports to Blairstown for pre-season practice.

MRS. RAMUS WINS CROWN

Downs Mrs. Katz in Tennis. Mrs. Grace Ramus outlasted Mrs. Dorothy Katz 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, to win the women's community tennis championship on the Church Courts Sunday. It is the first community title for Mrs. Ramus, who reached the semi-finals by posting a victory over Mrs. Lillian Ashley, 6-4, 6-2.

Mrs. Katz and her husband, Martin, captured the mixed doubles championship in a three-set duel with Marrianne Bonham and Erwin Vas, 8-6, 3-6, 6-4. Last year, the champions finished as runners-up behind Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Smoyer, who did not enter the tourney this year.

With defending champion Mrs. Betty Constable on the sidelines, 24 women entered the singles tournament. Mrs. Jermain Mueller turned in one of the upsets of the tourney by ousting Mrs. Peg Callaway in the quarter-finals, but was herself eliminated one round later by Mrs. Katz, 6-2, 6-0.

NASSAU OIL ON TOP

Oilers Squeak by PBA. A two-run rally in the last inning carried Nassau Oil to a narrow 8-7 victory over the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association Friday night, and kept the Oilers on top of the Junior Baseball League. Jim Wheeler and Smokey Black split the mound chores for the winners.

Bowers Construction won its first game last Thursday evening to gain second place in the league with a 7-1 victory over Matthews Construction Company. Robby Swinnerton, son of Bowers coach Ed Swinnerton, and Dan Corvino were locked in a tight pitcher's battle until Corvino tired in the last frame.

Matthews and the Police Benevolent Association share third place in the four-team league, each having lost its only start.

LEGION NINE WINS, 5-3

Rogerson Settles Hamilton. Princeton Post 78 opened the second half of the Mercer County American Legion baseball season by pounding out an 11-hit attack for a 5-2 victory over Hamilton Post 31 Saturday. John Rogerson handcuffed the visitors with 7 hits and struck out four.

Ray Cranston paced Princeton at bat, tripling, scoring a run, and driving home two more tallies in the fifth with a bases-loaded single. Bruce Sandvik and Alan Wood also chipped in with run-producing singles.

This week, Post 78, which finished in last place with a 1-11

SPORTSMEN SPLIT

Down Teague and Burton's. The Sportsmen's Club, behind the five-hit pitching of Harry Kehny, defeated Teague and Burton's, 5-4, at Poe Field Tuesday night. The Sportsmen tallied two runs in the second frame and three in the third to put the victory on ice.

The Sportsmen took their third loss of the season last Thursday as Sannino's pounded out a 3-2 triumph in the eighth inning. Sannino's tied the contest at 2-all with a run in the sixth, then picked up the win in the extra stanza.

In other Princeton Community Softball League action, Pete and Mike's, with Tom Procaccino on the mound, defeated Teague and Burton's, 8-6, Thursday, while the Sportsmen downed Pete and Mike's, 9-8. Sam Nini hurled for the Sportsmen in this contest, marking the first time that Kehny failed to represent the league leaders on the mound.

The standings:

| Sportsmen | 16 | 3 | .842 |
| Sannino's | 8 | 6 | .571 |

MONTGOMERY WIDENS LEAD

Tops Princeton AC Again. Montgomery Township will seek to protect its growing lead in the Tri-County Baseball League this Thursday when it faces the Princeton A.C. at 6:15 on University Field. Last week, the pace-setters topped Princeton, 5 to 2, behind the steady pitching of Doug Hoff.

The Princetonians fared better the following night against South Brunswick, Jack Lackey hurling a 10-0 shutout. Bob Montgomery's hard-hitting and good play at short was a feature.

After this Thursday's contest, P.A.C. will be at home again Tuesday evening against South Brunswick. There is no charge for these University Field contests.

FIRST PLACE WON

By Susan Howland. At the annual New Jersey All-Pony show held Saturday in Morristown, Susan Howland, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jonathan Howland, was given a cup for taking first place in the jumping class.

She also was named reserve champion in the small pony class. Her mount, "Twinkletoes," is owned by Mrs. Stuart Peyton.

Tips on HEARING by Radio Ear

The nation's 15-million hard of hearing people (are you one of them?) became that way through one or more of the 10 major causes of deafness.

Heredity, diseases which affect the acoustic nerve, loud noises, continuous colds, allergies, swimming in polluted water, obstructions in the ear, violent blowing of the nose, a hard blow on the ear, and old age—all cause deafness.

Remember, a running ear or an earache are danger signs and should never be ignored or self-treated. When such conditions exist, see a doctor without delay. Many cases of hearing loss can be prevented if infection is caught early and properly treated.

I've mentioned loud noises. It's interesting to note that noise is one of our greatest economic and health hazards. Along with an aging population, it is responsible for the nation's "rising tide of deafness."

For years we have recognized a condition known as "occupational deafness," caused by exposure to loud noises over a long period of time.

Continuous exposure to noise produces fatigue and prevents concentration, both of which reduce workers' efficiency. Individuals exposed to loud noise for long periods become jumpy and irritable; in some cases, a condition similar to "battle fatigue" results.

Noise is one of the most serious liabilities of our industrial age—and one of the chief causes of deafness.

Custom Built Homes In Princeton's Western Section

Just Minutes From Town on Princeton Pike Mercer Road

These homes are custom built in the true sense of the word with an eye to the finite details that go to make for a truly custom home, and of course, provisions were made for complete air-conditioning.
